

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Contact:

Doneshia Marinnie

dmarinnie@allcertnft.com

NFT Toolkit Developer AllCertified Launches B2B Portal; Provisional Patented Technology Creates Authenticated Blockchain Autographs to be Affixed to NFTs.

Philadelphia, PA, April 12, 2022 — AllCertified Inc, a leading NFT toolkit developer, announced today the launch of their B2B portal, with provisional patented technology to enable individuals to affix digitized blockchain autographs to select NFTs. This provides a new level of authenticity and transparency to the NFT (non-fungible token) market coupled with new revenue streams for athletes, artists, musicians, and social media influencers.

NFTs are collectibles, and fans, collectors, and investors know that autographed collectibles are multiple times more valuable than unsigned pieces. AllCertified's technology digitizes an autograph using a proprietary multi-point verification signing and recording process.

“AllCertified does not mint NFTs, operate an NFT marketplace or auction site, or host digital wallets,” said Michael Eckstein, AllCertified’s Founder and CEO. “We work with multiple NFT minting/ marketplace sites for them to provides these services. Once we receive a request for an authenticated digitized signature, we work with the requesting entity to enable the required autograph and all related metadata to be incorporated into the NFTs blockchain and smart contract metrics.” The company is fully compliant with the ERC-721 non-fungible token (NFT) standard.

As NFTs have increased in popularity, businesses and fans have also been looking for ways to differentiate their products and prevent fraud, counterfeiting, and illegal derivative works. AllCertified’s digitized signature accomplishes both. “Digitized blockchain autographs provide additional levels of security, authenticity, and desirability for memorabilia collectors,” explained Eckstein.

Digitized signatures affixed to NFTs are the natural progression in a collectible sector primed for major growth. For more information or to book an interview with an AllCertified representative, contact our Public Relations department using the information provided in this release.

###

About AllCertified Inc.

AllCertified is a visionary group of NFT gurus, experienced fintech programmers, cryptocurrency miners, and industry-leading copyright and trademark IP lawyers with deep contacts in the sports and entertainment industries. We have come together to create and launch AllCertified, a unique company with patent-pending technology to create blockchain authenticated celebrity autographs to be affixed to digital NFTs, first starting with athletes, then expanding to artists, TV and movie personalities, musical performers, social media influences, etc. on a global basis.